Chicago Wins Pennant.
CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—The Chicago American League baseball club became the winners of the pennant for the season of 1906, when both games of the double-header at St. Louis today, in which the Chicago team was scheduled to play, were called off on account of wet grounds, while Philadelphia and New York split even in the two games played at Philadelphia.

The Chicago club cannot be overtaken, even though they lose the four games yet to be played. The best the New York team can do is to win the remaining three games, in which event they will finish second, just one-half game behind the pennant winners.

Only one game separates Cleveland and New York for second honors. Cleveland has four games more to play and if they can win all four, New York losing one the Cleveland team will take second place by a half a game.

Cleveland, 4; Detroit, 3.
CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 3.—Cleveland defeated Detroit today, 4 to 3, closing the season in Cleveland.

WOMEN CLEAN THE TOWN.

Matrons with Brooms and Rakes

Turned Vienna into "Spotless Town."

VIENNA, ILL., Oct. 3.—Vienna society women, represented in the Vienna Woman's Club, have become "white wings" in their efforts to carry on their crusade for a clean city.

While the male residents, who had hitherto regarded the women's demands for clean streets, sanitary conditions and other beautifications of the city as mere women's theories, were open mouthed witnesses, twenty of the society leaders, armed with hoes, brooms and rakes, started out to combine theory with practice.

Teams had been hired to cart away the sweepings, and throughout the day the women labored, giving the city such a sprucing up as it had never had before. When the sun set up over their labors Vienna was the reincarnation of "Spotless Town."

Among those who participated in the crusade were the wives of Representative P. F. Chapman, W. H. Gilman, editor of the Times, county officials and prominent merchants of the place.

TELEPHONES FOR SCHOOLS.

Children Will No Longer be Compelled to Face Heavy Snowstorms.

FARGO, N. D., Oct. 3.—Deep snows and zero weather will not interfere with several school districts in North Dakota this winter. When the weather is severe the teacher will go to the telephone and call up the home of each pupil, notify him that the school house will not be opened that day and announce that studies will begin. Where there are several pupils in one home extra receivers have been provided.

Tried in an experimental way last year, the system was a big success. Reading and grammar are taught readily, and problems in arithmetic and algebra are solved on individual blackboards.

When it is remembered that the children recite by the side of a comfortable fire, that there is no waiting through drifts waist high, the saving in doctors' bills and human life is apparent.

COW DRAGGED BOY TO DEATH

Invalid Tied Himself to Animal, Which Became Frightened.

FILMORE, ILL., Oct. 3.—Archie Harnett, the twenty-year-old son of Supervisor Harnett, of this city, an invalid from spinal affection, was dragged to death by an angry cow, to which he had tied himself.

Two younger brothers saw him dragged over a large field, but were unable to give assistance before he had been killed. The three had been playing in the field, and it is supposed Archie had intended leading one of the cows home, as he had tied a rope to its neck and fastened the other end to one of his arms. This done, one of the brothers attempted to climb upon the back of the animal, which frightened it, and started it running. The youngest boy was thrown from the cow's back and Archie was dragged by the rope. The cow ran for more than half a mile.

When the brothers came up with the cow which she had worn herself out by running, they found Archie's body horribly mangled and life extinct.

CABELL BOOMSSWANSON

Defeated Candidate for Congress
Suggests Governor for Senate.

PREDICTS J. W. DANIEL'S DEFEAT

If Present Official Makes a good Executive, He Sees No Reason Why

the Senior Senator Will Not Be

Retired by the Voters.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 3.—"If Governor Swanson makes a good governor during the remainder of his term of office as the chief executive of Virginia, I have no doubt that he will be the successor of Senator John W. Daniel to represent the people of his State in the upper house of Congress."

This was the statement made this morning by George C. Cabell, of Norfolk, a prominent politician and a recent candidate for Congress to succeed Representative Harry L. Maynard, of the Second district.

"While I cannot say positively," continued Mr. Cabell, "just what the result of the next senatorial election will be, Swanson could easily become the successor of Senator Daniel should he so desire, with A. C. Braxton a close second."

"If the election were to be held at this time I suppose Senator Daniel would be his own successor, but there are liable to be many changes before his time for re-election comes again."

"Senator Daniel began a new term March 4, 1905, hence his next term will not expire until 1911. At that time he will have reached the age of 69 years and may be succeeded by a younger man."

"The recent utterances of the senior senator have caused much comment throughout the State and in addition to his age being against him when his present term of office expires, his stand on the government ownership proposition recently mentioned in the New York speech of William J. Bryan may have some bearing on the selection of his successor."

"The time for sentiment and for standing back in politics has been banished," declared Mr. Cabell, "and there is not the least reason why Governor Swanson should not make the attempt to succeed Senator Daniel should he so desire. I look for him to be the man."

HAZING STAMPED OUT.

New Cadets at West Point Free from Tormentors.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The practice of hazing new cadets at West Point has been effectively stamped out, according to the report made to the war department by the special committee on instruction, discipline, and hygiene of the board of visitors, which has been made public.

The committee says: "We have been informed that no instance of real hazing has come to the attention of the Academy authorities during the last three years, or since effective measures were employed for its abolition. This excellent state of discipline could only have resulted from the hearty co-operation of the student body when once it had brought to its attention the fact that the hazing practice, as carried on, was seriously impairing the usefulness of the institution."

"The esprit de corps and high code of honor prevalent in the cadet ranks were never more satisfactory than at the present time, and that hazing no longer exists here must be very largely attributed to this gratifying status among the students themselves."

"Athletics at the Academy have attained a very high degree of excellence, and the wisdom of the authorities in so amending the rule as to require gymnasium work of cadets in all classes has already been demonstrated, after only a year's trial, and will be further confirmed with each recurring session. The determination of the authorities from the very beginning not to allow athletics to encroach upon regular academic work is wise, and insures to the students all the benefits that result from pure and wholesome exercises, while at the same time avoiding all the evil consequences that too often result in institutions where athletics are accorded excessive prominence."

Gen. Horace Porter was president. In its report the board says it desires the management of the Academy, both in discipline and efficiency, is of the highest order and an honor to those charged with its administration."

KOEHLER BOTHERS THE ARMY.

Troublesome Court Martial Now on in Philippines.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—One of the most troublesome of court martial cases is that which will shortly begin in the Philippines with a view to determining who is at fault—if anybody—in the controversy which threatened the discipline of the Department of Mindanao and involved Major General Leonard Wood, at one time in command of that department; Colonel H. L. Scott, on duty there and now the superintendent of the Military Academy, and Captain L. M. Koehler, 4th Cavalry.

The latter is to be brought before a court for the second time. He was first tried for insubordination and sentenced to be reprimanded, which sentence was carried out by General Wood in an order which severely rebuked Koehler, who appealed to the War Department and sought to carry the case to the president. The history of the case includes a large amount of correspondence, which has drawn into the situation many officers on duty in the same department, as Captain Koehler, and it is found that the second court, ordered by the President, includes officers to whose presence on the tribunal Koehler is destined to object. The inquiry has been made whether the authorities in Manila may save time in the matter by replacing such members as are challenged by others outside the military department, in order to bring the composition of the court up to the number required by law. This will be impossible.

The substitutes must be designed by the President, and only after Captain Koehler has expressed his objection to this or that member and been sustained by the court. It is expected that, in view of the feeling which Captain Koehler has aroused, all but the judge advocate will have to be replaced—a most unusual condition.

Captain Koehler is a good officer, especially in the field and with troops; it is this fact, indeed, which has saved him from dismissal for insubordination. But those who know him say that he has a temper and easily gets into controversies which stir up strife about him. The outcome of the case, in view of the prominence of the officers concerned, is awaited with much interest.

AT THE STAMP WINDOW.

How Gentle Woman Forces Mere Man to Obey.

She was dressed in white from head to foot and wore elbow sleeves. Her hat was poised at a dangerously wicked angle, and it was evident she was conscious of the attention she attracted as she walked up to the stamp window, boldly assuming the right of way over others.

"A two-cent stamp, please," she said sweetly, at the same time placing her letter on the counter.

"The clerk gave her the stamp."

"Won't you kindly attach it to the letter?" she asked.

A shade of annoyance passed over the clerk's face. "We don't generally do this," he said.

"I know," she said sweetly, "but the taste of stamps doesn't agree with me at all. Thanks awfully. I'll drop it in the box myself."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Starvation Charity.

Peter Pechin in Southern Farm Magazine of Baltimore for October: Commenting upon a woman's dying of starvation in Philadelphia and leaving five children, the Philadelphia Press says:

"Organized charity falls short of its purpose when it does not discover such immediate wants and relieve them."

Why should anyone imagine that the purpose of organized charity is to save persons from starvation? One must prove that he or she is dying of starvation if one would enlist the services of organized charity and its corps of salaried officials who thus are saved from starvation. The fundamental principle of organized charity is that it were better for nine innocent persons to starve than for one imposter to succeed.
